School Nurse Report

Hello Everyone,

So Easter is coming up isn’t it? And you are probably thinking about where you might go or what you might do on this luxurious time of rest and chocolate. How can I tie this in with “My Premiers Active family Challenge” you may be asking yourself?! Well, I have a solution for you!

Get active in the great Victorian outdoors!

Need some inspiration for getting the family out and about on the weekend or for the upcoming Labour Day and Easter breaks? There are great walking trails in close proximity to Melbourne and most are within easy driving distance of the city. Check out the Visit Victoria website for great short walk ideas and start exploring our great state!

Of course, this is all on your e-bulletin from the Challenge people themselves. It has many more ideas about healthy eating, swimming festivals, runs etc. The Visit Victoria website is rather good though- I’m sure there is lots of excitement to be had within.

It’s also the time of year when we look at Immunizations. At Wales street we have just booked in to have our yearly flu vaccinations (which contain the swine flu virus as well) and also, are individually reviewing the need for tetanus/diphtheria/whooping cough vaccine. Within this cocktail of immunizations I recently reviewed my sons Tetanus status when he has the misfortune of stepping on a rusty nail. Of course it was rusty! We don’t often talk about tetanus, as incidents like these are usually far and few between. Considering that many of you may hit the camping trail over Easter- here is some handy information from “keep kids healthy”....

http://www.keepkidshealthy.com/welcome/infectionsguide/tetanus.html

Tetanus is a now uncommon illness since most children are vaccinated with the tetanus vaccine (as part of the DTaP vaccine) and adults receive regular booster doses every ten years (Td vaccine). Tetanus is caused by the Clostridium tetani bacteria that usually gains access to a person through a wound. It then grows and can cause serious muscle and nerve problems. Symptoms can include muscle spasms that lead to stiffness of the jaw, drooling, difficulty swallowing. The spasms gradually spread to other muscles throughout the body.

Tetanus is very difficult to treat and is best prevented by routine vaccination. Children usually receive four doses of tetanus as part of the DTaP vaccine and then a booster at four years of age and again when they are twelve. Adults require boosters every ten years. You should see a doctor for treatment and to receive a booster if you receive a wound and have not had a tetanus shot in the last five years, especially if the wound is at all contaminated with dirt, soil, faeces, or saliva, and if it is a puncture wound or crush wound. Minor wounds that are clean may not need a tetanus booster if your immunizations are up to date.

Another paediatric website adds this excellent point: http://pediatrics.about.com/od/vacpreventableinfections/a/0708_tetanus.htm

It is important to keep in mind that your child is not only at risk for tetanus following the classic case of stepping on a rusty nail. Tetanus spores live in the soil and so almost any dirty wound can lead to tetanus infections. Although puncture wounds are the most common that lead to tetanus, scrapes, burns, snake bites, dog bites, and even spider bites can also cause tetanus if the wounds becomes contaminated with dirt or feces.

Most importantly, like other vaccine preventable infections, keeping up-to-date on your child's immunizations will help to prevent your child from getting tetanus. One thing that complicates tetanus is that your child may still need a tetanus shot even if he is up to date on his immunizations if it has been five or more years since his last tetanus shot and he has:

- a wound that is contaminated with dirt, feces, or saliva
- a puncture wound
- an avulsion wound, in which part of the wound is pulled away from the other part
- a wound caused by crush injury, burn, or frostbite.

So if your child had a tetanus shot at age four (the DTaP vaccine kids get before starting kindergarten), then he may need a tetanus shot if he gets a dirty wound before he gets a tetanus booster when he is 11 or 12 years old (the Tdap vaccine).

Of course, if you have any concerns about your child-see your trusty Doctor.

Have a fabulous week, take care.
